[Redacted]

Dear Donald:

It is a great pleasure for me to send you my picture which I have autographed as you requested. I might add that you are to be congratulated on your ambition to become President.

I have no authority to approve or disapprove your letter which you propose to send to Prime Minister Bulganin and therefore I am returning the letter as you requested.

With kindest regards.

Sincerely,

Signed

Allen W. Dulles
Director

Dear Mr. Dulles:

I'm 13 years old and someday hope to become President.

I've written to your brother, Secretary of State Dulles, and his wife several times and have both of their signed pictures. Would it be possible for you to send me a signed photograph of you.

I've enclosed the text of a letter I'd like to send to Prime Minister Bulganin. You will note that there is nothing mentioned about either Government nor either Nation's political beliefs.

This is the very same letter I shall (if you will permit me) send to the Russian Prime Minister. Please take anything away or add anything you wish.

By sending this letter to the Prime Minister I don't, by any means, want you or him to think I sympathize with Communist beliefs. I most certainly and absolutely strongly disagree with them. My only reason for sending this note(to Mr. Bulganin) is to get him to send me his signed picture, which, I'm sure you'll admit would be an unusual thing to have in this Nation.

Please send the Bulganin note back whether or not you approve it. I, of course will not send the note if you don't want me to.

Thank you very much.

With every best wish to you.

Most Sincerely,

Donald R. Jones,
